

BALLINGER'S ATTORNEYS NOW CRY "PLOT"

Pinchot Subordinates Said to Have Determined to Get Rid of Secretary

AFFAIRS ARE RAPIDLY
GROWING TO TENSITY

Attorney General of United States May Go on Stand
to Testify

WASHINGTON, April 23.—The defense in the Ballinger-Pinchot case attempted to show a conspiracy between the Pinchot subordinates to remove Ballinger. Director Smith of the Geological Survey testified that Price, a Pinchot subordinate, said:
"If we can't get Ballinger one way,
we will another."

Smith stated that Price admitted to him he didn't like Ballinger. Smith denounced several magazines and papers which have been following the Pinchot-Ballinger controversy for alleged garbling of facts. He declared he believed Pinchot responsible.

Attorney General Wickersham may be a witness before the Ballinger investigation committee. It is rumored today that he may be called as a result of the repeated charges of Brandeis, attorney for Glavis, that Wic-kersham's statement of the Glavis case to the president contained misstate-ments.

Attorney Vertrees for Ballinger may call Wickersham and it is further rumored that Wickersham himself desires to testify.

JEW'S DRIVEN OUT OF KEIFF

Russia Gives Five Days to Clear City of 10,000 Non-
Permanent Citizens

BERLIN, April 23.—Ten thousand Jews were driven from Keiff today by the Russian authorities, according to dispatches received here. Premier Stolypin ordered the wholesale expulsions, because the Jews had settled there without obtaining governmental permission.

The city authorities were given
five days in which to clear the city of non-permanent Jews. It is feared the incident will lead to anti-semitic demonstrations throughout Russia.

MRS. HYDE SAYS GOD'S HAND IS IN THE CASE

Thinks Sickness of Witness is Result of Prosecuting An Innocent Man

KANSAS CITY, April 23.—"God seems displeased at the efforts to convict an innocent man of awful crimes on mere suspicion," said Mrs.
B. C. Hyde today, when she learned that another important witness for the prosecution of her husband, who is charged with the murder of Colonel Thomas Swope, is seriously ill.
R. D. Mitchell, the undertaker who prepared Col. Swope's body for burial, is ill with typhoid, the same malady which attacked eight members of the Swope household.

Stanford Boys Duck Editor of College Paper

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Apr.
23.—A mob of a hundred students today captured and threw into Lake Lagunitas, E. M. Leaf, the editor of Sequoia, a college monthly paper. The demonstrations followed the publication of an article which the students believed to be reflections upon two of their number. Leaf managed to swim ashore. W. C. Shelton, winner of the Carnot debating medal against California, drew a revolver and attempted to protect Leaf. The students induced him to disarm.
Shelton then offered to fight any one of the crowd and the offer was accepted by a prominent sophomore, who beat Shelton.
The college is racked with excitement and further trouble is feared by the authorities.

ALFRED WOLTER IS CALLOUSED YOUTH

Jokes With Guards and Sleeps Well After Conviction for Murder

NEW YORK, April 23.—Albert
Wolter, who was convicted yesterday of first degree murder of Ruth Wheeler, aged 18, whose body was found in a fireplace in his room, joked with his prison guards today and showed no signs of collapse. The guards say the youth slept soundly throughout the night. He is preserving the same remarkable self-control noticed during the trial.

PRINCE TSAI TOA IS RUDE

Chinese Are Ashamed of Action
of Their Minister of War
In San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—Local Chinese are indignant, and ashamed of the actions of Prince Tsai Tao,
the Chinese minister of war and uncle of the little emperor, in deliberately ignoring their gifts and expressions of welcome and esteem.

The walls of Chinatown are placarded with lampoons of the young prince, referring to him as a child, whose ignorance and lack of politeness is excusable because of his youth.

The cause of the outbreak was the prince's action last night in his withdrawal with his suite while the local Chinese were presenting him with a vase and a loving cup at the hotel.
Chief of Police Martin will guard the prince against possible hostile demonstrations when he starts east tonight.

WOMAN ASKS DAMAGES OF $10,000 FROM DR. W. W. ADAMS

Alleging that he has ruined her life, Mrs. Frances M. Marshall of Anaheim, has begun suit for $10,000 damages against Dr. Walker W. Adams, an osteopathic physician of Anaheim.
The complaint in the case was filed in the county clerk's office
this morning by Attorney E. E.
Keech.

The complaint alleges a long period
of mistreatment, beginning in July, 1905, at Santa Paula. It is stated in the complaint that at that time the physician, while treating the woman in his office, which was in the house occupied by the woman and her husband and three children, forced his attention upon her, and declared he would perform himself to lay the blame onto her should she make known his crime.

The complaint alleges that immediately afterward Mrs. Marshall started to tell her husband, Henry Marshall, of the matter, when Marshall flew into a rage, charged his wife with being in love with the physician, shook her and bruised her.
Several months later Mrs. Marshall, after being ordered from home by her husband, alleging cruelty, secured a divorce.

ROOSEVELT MAKES SORBONNE ADDRESS CITIZENSHIP

WAS LISTENED TO
BY EMINENT MEN
FROM OVER EUROPE

Demonstrations Greatest Ever
Accorded to Foreign Lecturer

PARIS, April 23.—Departing from his written text in his address before the University of Sorbonne, Colonel Roosevelt today created a furore by attacking the monied interests that override human rights. He was speaking in French, but when he reached this portion he repeated it in English for the benefit of the Americans in the audience. Tremendous applause greeted the sally. His remarks on race suicide were also warmly received. The demonstrations were the greatest ever given any foreign lecturer.

Col. Roosevelt was a guest at a dinner at the Sorbonne, where covers were laid for fifteen, including ambassador Bacon, and Minister Jesserand. Fifteen hundred invitations were issued for a subsequent reception at the Sorbonne. Col.
Roosevelt today discarded his famous nose glasses and purchased a new pair from a leading oculist of Paris. He also purchased a number of rare old books.

GOT $2,500 FOR A SCAR

Woman Who Owns Orchard
Here Secures Settlement
With Railroad

Quick settlement was reached in the suit of Miss Katherine Paxton, who owns a walnut orchard on Seventeenth street, of San Francisco, against the United Railroads. The following is from San Francisco:

"Miss Katherine R. Paxton, whose personal appearance was seriously marred in a United Railroads car accident and who sued the corporation for $10,000 damages, yesterday accepted $2500 in compromise, and the case, which had been partly tried in Judge Murasky's court, was dismissed.
"A deep scar on the plaintiff's right cheek, about an inch long, is the disfigurement of which she complained.
The street railroad representatives in court referred to the mark as a "dimple"
and could not be induced to admit that it lessened Miss Paxton's beauty.

"Miss Paxton was injured in a collision at Eighteenth and Dolores streets, January 23, 1908. Besides the cut on her face she sustained two broken ribs."

MOTHER WILL BE GIVEN HER DAUGHTER MONDAY MORNING

The mother will get her daughter.
This was the decision of Judge
West yesterday in the habeas corpus action brought by Mrs. Dolores Martinez of Los Angeles to secure possession of her daughter, Alvina, aged 6, from Manuel Tapia of Anaheim. Tapia was cited to bring the child into court yesterday, but he failed to appear. The mother and her witnesses were there, and testified that the girl was given to Mrs. Tapia to care for, the mother then being a penniless widow, with the understanding that the child should be with the Tapia family only so long as Mrs. Tapia lived. Mrs. Tapia is now dead.

A few days ago Tapia declared he had spent much money caring for the child's eyes. The mother stated yesterday that she is now able to employ physicians to look after the eyes, and she would do so if given the girl.

Judge West ordered that Tapia produce the little girl in court Monday morning, at which time she will be turned over to the mother.

PARIS, April 23.—Theodore Roosevelt today delivered an address on "Citizenship in a Republic" at the Sorbonne University, in the presence of a distinguished assembly of savants and students. Among them were some of the foremost men of science and letters in Europe.

The famous American read his address from manuscript, although he evidenced such familiarity with it that he many times talked for several minutes without referring to the sheets. His manner was forceful and his delivery energetic.

He said among other things:
"Strange and impressive associations rise in the mind of a man from the New World who speaks before this august body in this ancient institution of learning. Before his eyes pass the shadows of mighty kings and warlike nobles, of great masters of law and theology; through the shining dust of the dead centuries he sees crowded figures that tell of the power and learning and splendor of times gone by; and he sees also the innumerable hosts of humble students to whom clerkship ment emancipation, to whom it was well-nigh the only outlet from the dark thralldom of the Middle Ages.

"This was the most famous university of mediaeval Europe at a time when no one dreamed that there was a New World to discover. Its services to the cause of human knowledge already stretched far back into the remote past at the time when my forefathers, three centuries ago,
were among the sparse bands of traders, plowmen, woodchoppers, and fisherfolk who, in hard struggle with the iron unfriendliness of the Indian-haunted land, were laying the foundations of what has now become the great republic of the West.

"Today I shall speak to you on the subject of individual citizenship, the one subject of vital importance to you, my hearers, and to me and my countrymen, because you and we are citizens of a great democratic republic. A democratic republic such as each of ours—an effort to realize in its full sense government by, of, and for the people—represents the most gigantic of all possible social experiments, the one fraught with greatest possibilities alike for good and evil.
The success of republics like yours and like ours means the glory, and our failure the despair, of mankind;
and for you and for us the question of the quality of the individual citizen is supreme.

TOM TAGGART WILL TRY FOR U.S. SENATE

He Formally Announced His Candidacy at French Lick Spring

INDIANAPOLIS, April 23.—Thomas Taggart, ex-Democratic national committeeman, has formally announced his candidacy for the United States senatorship. The announcement was made at French Lick Springs. Taggart's friends declare he has assured himself that Governor Marshall's plan to have the Democratic convention name the party's candidate is doomed to failure.

"I will be a candidate for the nomination under any circumstances," Taggart declared. If the Democratic convention decides to take up the matter of nominations, I will be a candidate there. Otherwise, I will go directly before the legislature."

"The average citizen must be a good citizen if our republics are to succeed. The stream will not permanently rise higher than the main source; and the main source of national power and national greatness is found in the average citizenship of a nation. Therefore it behooves us to do our best to see that the standard of the average citizen is kept high; and the average cannot be kept high unless the standard of the leaders is very much higher.

"In the next place, the good man should be both a strong and a brave man; that is, he should be able to fight, he should be able to serve his country as a soldier if the need arises.

"Finally, even more important than ability to work, even more important than ability to fight at need, is it to remember that the chief of blessings
for any nation is that it shall leave its seed to inherit the land. It was the crown of blessings in Biblical times; and it is the crown of blessings now.

"Character must show itself in the man's performance both of the duty he owes himself and of the duty he owes the state. The man's foremost duty is owed to himself and his family; and he can do this duty only by earning money, by providing what is essential to material well-being; it is only after this has been done that he can hope to build a higher superstructure on the solid material foundation; it is only after this has been done that he can help in movements for the general well-being. He must pull his own weight first, and only after this can his surplus strength be of use to the general public.

"Let those who have, keep, let those who have not strive to attain, a higher standard of cultivation and scholarship. Yet let us remember that these stand second to certain other things. There is need of a sound body, and even more need of a sound mind. But above mind and above body stands character—the sum of those qualities which we mean when we speak of a man's force and courage, of his good faith and sense of honor.

"Self-restraint, self-mastery, common sense, the power of accepting individual responsibility and yet of acting in conjunction with others, courage and resolution—these are the qualities which mark a masterful people. Without them no people can control itself, or save itself from being controlled from the outside."

REDLANDS, April 23.—A fire start-

a damage of $50,000, and threatens to spread to Chinatown. The fire department was handicapped by a low pressure of water, and was unable to fight the fire systematically because unable to get close to the blaze. If the fire reaches Chinatown it is feared the big packing houses will be doomed. Authorities are considering it has severed connection with the Aero Club of America because of the alleged unfairness of President Cor-land Field Bishop in effecting an agreement with Wright brothers without consulting the city clubs. This announcement follows the action of the Baltimore and Washington clubs in Angeles will now have an excellent chance to get that attraction.

HYPOTHETICAL QUESTION PUT TO EXPERTS TO WHICH ANSWER WAS "INSANE"

At the time Sylvester H. Overacker fired the shot that killed Gustavus A. Winn at Newhope, on Jan. 13, was Overacker sane or insane?

This question was propounded to three physicians by Attorneys W. H. Thomas and Victor Montgomery for the defense. The physicians were Drs. J. R. Medlock, F. M. Bruner and H. E. W. Barnes, and each of the three answered: "Insane."

These physicians were called as witnesses for the defense. As counter or rebuttal witnesses District Attorney Davis and Deputy Finley have called Drs. J. L. Dryer, C. D. Ball and J. M. Burlew. The same question asked of Drs. Medlock, Bruner and Barnes may not be put to these physicians. This question contains the allegations of the defense, and many of the items are not admitted by the prosecution. It is probable that on Monday next, when the prosecution puts on its experts, hypothetical questions of its own will be asked them. However, the same question put to the experts for the prosecution, and if it is put, doubtless the answers will be at variance with the answers given by the experts for the defense. Otherwise the question would not be put, of course.

The questions to which Drs. Medlock, Bruner and Barnes answered "Insane" follow:

Now, assuming as a fact, that a certain person about sixty-one years of age had suffered when he was a boy about fourteen years of age, with stomach trouble; that thereafter during the year of 1872 he suffered from an attack of inflammatory rheumatism, and that for a greater portion of the years from 1874 to 1877 he was a sheep herder, and that thereafter in the year of 1887 he was not well, that being a dry year and he did not have much to do, and he got the fever, and he said that it seemed to him like the top of his head would come off and that he would tumble on the ground whenever that spell came over him. That he took a prescription out of a doctor book that he had, and got some ground Peruvian bark, and he thinks he got belladonna with it and took it; and that the trouble just referred to was severe for several weeks and left him with a continual roaring in the head, which has never left him from that time to this and was unable to hear anything through his right ear on account of said roaring, and is so deaf in the left ear that he is now unable to hear much without the aid of an ear trumpet, except when close to him and the speaker talks in a loud tone of voice.

And, assuming also, that at one time one of his neighbors saw him hammer his horses over the head with a club several times, and his cattle and cows. That he said that he thought that the neighbors were having lightning flash around the house, and that the neighbors were turning his horses loose and misplacing things around the place and house.

That on one occasion he sat with his head in his hands and did not notice the presence of his wife, and after being spoken to by her several times did not answer, except to say, "It ain't for you to know," and that on one occasion, in the evening, his wife told him she heard a terrific noise at the barn, whereupon he lighted his lantern and went out, and in a few seconds he came back to the door with his mouth open and looked pale and sat down on the wood box, and after being asked by his wife if he saw anything, he answered "no."

That thereafter he got a newspaper and sat there with it before him, holding it bottom side up. That on the same occasion, when asked what was the matter, he said he felt something awful was going to happen, and upon being asked by his wife what it was, he said, "It ain't for you to know." That on several occasions he would pull down the curtains and go outside and see if anyone could see through the windows with the curtains thus drawn. That he would frequently tell of hearing voices when no one else about the premises could hear anything of that kind.

That at one time, either in the month of December, 1909, or early in the month of January, 1910, this man, prior to the taking of his son to an adjoining town to school, had caused to be placed in his conveyance a small stove, and soon thereafter, without any provocation or being so requested to do by anyone, he took the stove down and left it at his residence, and then got into the conveyance and rode with his son to the town some seven or eight miles away, and during all the time intervening from the time of leaving his home until he arrived at this town where the school was located, he never said one word to his son, who was riding with him, neither did he give his son any parting salutation or admonition when he left him.

That for several years last past this man said he thought his neighbors were trying to injure him. That at several times this man would leave the house by himself and be gone an hour or two at a time.

Hypothetical Question No. 2
And, assuming, that in addition to the assumed facts hereinbefore set forth, this man had a neighbor, who weighed about 175 or 180 pounds, fifty-two years of age, physically strong whose general reputation for peace and quietude in the neighborhood where he lived was bad, and who on several occasions during the past seven or eight years, has called this man a liar, and other names, and by damming water on his place in such a way as to cause the surplus water to back up and overflow this man's land and thus damage his crops, and this regardless of many requests made by this man of the said neighbor, that the said neighbor desist from so doing; that when such requests were made by this man of said neighbor, that said neighbor would laugh at him, and would say, "You are trying to pick up a fuss with all your neighbors."

That this neighbor told this man that the people who were at one time working on the road were going to have this man arrested, and so far was this conduct carried on that this neighbor, in addition to what had been stated above, from the time the son of this man was about ten years old, in talking to said son, would use vile and obscene language, and on one occasion told him that he couldn't see that this neighbor, on coming home from town, would pass by the residence of this man, and when so doing, on several occasions, and without any provocation, would hoot at the wife of this man, and call her vile names, and the wife said that the neighbor set the dog on her as she was passing on the highway, that in talking to the son of this man, this neighbor called him "" and said the son ought to be put in a swill-barrel; that at one time this neighbor told this man's son in referring to his father, that the old "" would work all night if he thought he could injure anyone, and this man became very much excited over the matter as regards his son, and his family's safety; that shortly after this neighbor had set his dog on this man's wife, he and his wife called on the district attorney, and requested that steps be taken to have something done, and were told by the deputy district attorney that there was not sufficient evidence for the case, it being one person's word against another's, that they would write this neighbor a letter; that some time during the months of July or August, 1909, this neighbor told this man's son that he intended to keep right after this man's family until he had exterminated the whole family.

That all of the said threats made to the son and wife of this man were by them communicated to him, both a few months before and also a few days before the shooting by this man of this neighbor; that a few days before the homicide this man called again on the district attorney and told the district attorney that his neighbor had told his son that he intended to keep right after this family until he had exterminated the whole family; that from the time of having this latter information communicated to him until the shooting, this man said that he did not believe he slept one half hour the last three nights just preceding the homicide.

Then assuming further that this man, afflicted, and thereafter aggravated, as before set forth, was, early in the morning of January 13, 1910, attacked by this neighbor with a shovel, causing this man, in dodging the blow, to fall into the water; that this man, on arising, immediately left and went to his own home about a quarter of a mile distant, got his rifle and came back to the same place; that, leaving his rifle on his own place, he crossed over onto this neighbor's land and commenced again to dig out the dam which the neighbor had filled; that shortly thereafter, this neighbor was seen coming toward this man from the vicinity of his own buildings, carrying with him a long handled shovel; and that thereafter this man came toward the defendant with a shovel or a gun; that this man continued digging until said neighbor was coming near to him, when he ceased the digging and got over on his own land, when the said neighbor approached nearer with a gun or shovel, and believing that said neighbor intended to shoot him, this man picked up his own gun and fired the shot which killed the neighbor. Now can you give us an opinion as to whether this man was sane or insane when he fired the fatal shot?

Hypothetical Question No. 4
Then assuming further that this man, afflicted, and thereafter aggravated, as before set forth, was, early in the morning of January 13, 1910, attacked by this neighbor with a shovel, causing this man, in dodging the blow, to fall into the water; that this man, on arising, immediately left and went to his own home about a quarter of a mile distant, got his rifle and came back to the same place; that, leaving his rifle on his own place, he crossed over onto this neighbor's land and commenced again to dig out the dam which the neighbor had filled; that shortly thereafter, this neighbor was seen coming toward this man from the vicinity of his own buildings, carrying with him a long handled shovel; and that thereafter this man came toward the defendant with a shovel or a gun; that this man continued digging until said neighbor was coming near to him, when he ceased the digging and got over on his own land, when the said neighbor approached nearer with a gun or shovel, and believing that said neighbor intended to shoot him, this man picked up his own gun and fired the shot which killed the neighbor. Now can you give us an opinion as to whether this man was sane or insane when he fired the fatal shot?

CROWN CITY TEAM TO PLAY TOMORROW

Pasadena will battle with the locals tomorrow at Association Park. This is the first time the Crown City bunch has been here this season and should give the Yellow Sox a hard run for the game. The home club is now in good shape with Cline added to first base. Any team will have to play ball to down the local team.

Delicately Formed

and gently reared, women will find in all the seasons of their lives, as maidens, wives and mothers, that the one simple, wholesome laxative remedy, which acts gently and pleasantly and naturally and which may be taken at any time, when the system needs a laxative, with perfect safety and really beneficial effects, is Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna.

It has that true delicacy of flavor which is so refreshing to the taste, that warming and grateful toning to the stomach which responds so favorably to its action and the laxative effect which is so beneficial to the system when, occasionally, its gentle cleansing is required.

The genuine, always bearing the name of the California Fig Syrup Co., may be purchased from all leading druggists in original packages of one size only, price fifty cents per bottle.

THE PASSING OF THE "OLD GUARD"

By Mrs. Walter B. Tedford, at the Annual Banquet at the First Congregational Church

I am on this program tonight because Mr. Secombe asked me to be, and not because I am competent. He never disappoints us, and when he thinks you can do a thing you seem to be willing to try at least.

I am going to speak of "The Passing of the Old Guard," a few recollections of faithfulness to our church.

Of the earlier pastors, Dr. Harwood, with his wife and very helpful daughters, and Rev. Vorhees stand out prominently. As I remember, Rev. Vorhees was a very able man, and his wife was a host in herself. The organist at this time, and for many years, was Mrs. Bagley Van Cleve; the choir, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Bristol, Mrs. Vorhees and Mr. Tedford. We met in the room across the street where now is the Chandler furniture store. We were few in number and tried to be faithful in attendance. Mr. A. J. Crookshank was general utility man and usher, and on cold days would build roaring fires, and if any of the babies in their baby carriages in the back of the room stirred, he would give the carriage a gentle shake and send the babies off to dreamland again.

We used to have socials where all would come, young and old, at which we played "shouting proverbs," acting charades, etc. Mrs. Vorhees introduced home-made candy at these socials. I remember we held a hat-trimming contest, where each lady chose a gentleman partner and he trimmed the hat. Mr. Gus Crookshank was declared the best trimmer, and a-er that he was ardently courted by mammas with beautiful daughters; but he escaped, and in the course of time did his own courting and married the girl of his choice. I do not say he trims Mrs. Crookshank's hats, but I do say he is capable of trimming them.

Our organization later met in Hervey's hall, where the Business College is now located, and after that in Spurgeon's Hall. Our pastor at this time was the Rev. Jackson. We gave chrysanthemum fairs, which were beautiful, artistic, and a great financial success.

About this time we were offered our old church by the Congregational Building Society, if we would bring it from Escondido. The Rev. Fleming was pastor at this time. The Rev. John Cooper succeeded him and was with us eight years.

We of the Aid Society remember that our missions were not looked after until about this time, when Mrs. Cooper organized a missionary society, taking in every woman in the church and congregation. She was a most efficient and faithful pastor's wife. She would write notes and postal cards to us all, and send topics and clippings, until we were as interested in missions as in our own work. She was an invalid, but an untiring worker, beloved by us all. We felt pleased that Mr. Cooper, last Sunday, spoke so tenderly of her work among us.

We have had as presidents of our Aid and Missionary societies, Mrs. Crookshank, Mrs. Cleves, Mrs. Pendleton, Mrs. True, Mrs. Tedford, Mrs. Wood, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Clarence Crookshank, Mrs. Nealey, Mrs. Tingley, Mrs. Martin, Mrs. Decker; as secretaries, Mrs. VanCleve, Miss Randle, Mrs. Nickell, Mrs. Talcott, Mrs. Gardner and Mrs. Wetherbee.

At one time there was connected with our church a cooking club. The working members were Henry Peabody and Clarence Crookshank. Many and varied were the meals served by this famous club. The Amphion Circle is as nothing compared with it.

When the word faithfulness is spoken we think of four girls who can claim it as their crown: Miss Sallie Peabody, Miss Crookshank and Mary and Celia Cotter. Many are the good things for the children planned by them.

Mr. Chapin served us as deacon from the organization of the church until his death. He and his gifted wife were an inspiration to us all.

Of the old faithful guard, I will mention, Mrs. Rowley, Mrs. Ball, Mrs. Levett, Mrs. Fogg, Mrs. Hill, Mrs. Benedict, Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. Irwin, Mrs. Taylor, Mr. Morton and Mr. True.

I think I can say the most helpful and most modest family in our church is the Crookshank family.

These are but a few of many pleasant recollections of the past. The present we all know, and the future certainly looks bright, with our able pastor to guide us. True, as one of the Baraca boys said, "When the Rev. Secombe gets back of the 'push' things are bound to move."

Whether we are given one or ten talents, if we are faithful we will receive the same "Well done," from the Master.

AMUSEMENTS

At the Grand
The new musical comedy company opened at the Grand Opera House last evening, and the theatre-going people of Santa Ana had the opportunity of seeing one of the best organizations that has ever held the boards of a local stage.

Henrichs and Stone are pitching glitche ball and before many games are played Santa Ana should take the lead. Stone is scheduled to pitch tomorrow, with Henrichs in reserve in case his services are needed. The game will be called at 2:30. Ladies will be admitted free to the grand stand.

Own Your Own Mind

Have you ever considered the possibility of doing this? Remember that living in a rented mind, furnished with opinions bought on the installment plan, never offers any inducement with it for the future. Not only this, but you are not saving up anything.

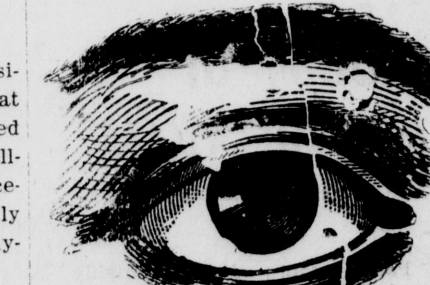

The advantages of owning your own mind will be apparent at a moment's thought.

In the first place you come to take a personal interest, which you do not feel when it is owned by some one else. Then again the natural increase in value redounds to your own profit. You have no one to dictate to you as to the inside furnishings and decorations. Besides, it makes you more particular with regard to what you put into it. If you live in a rented mind you don't care much. You will drive nails in the walls and get generally careless about it. But when you own your own mind you are constantly going about picking it up. You take real pride in it.

Be it ever so humble, there is no place like a mind that you own yourself—Life.

Taking this company all in all, no better traveling musical comedy company has ever visited Santa Ana and the people here will have the opportunity tonight to judge the merit of the comedy, "A Night Off" tonight. Popular prices prevail, 25, 50 and 75 cents. No higher.

But a Sound One
"Why did the Smyth's go home so early?"
"They gave a very bald excuse."
"What was it?"
"The baby."—Baltimore American

TUSTIN SOCIAL ITEMS

History Class Meeting

The members of the Tustin History Class will meet with Mrs. C. F. Bennett next Tuesday afternoon.

Evening of Enjoyment

Last evening's entertainment at the Tustin Bank Hall attracted many people who felt well satisfied and justified in attending. The entertainment was a success as each performer in the little playlet took her part well and did credit to her instructor, Mr. Phillips.

After the play, Misses Deardorff and Peterson entertained with delightfully rendered vocal and instrumental numbers. Mr. Phillips also entertained with some excellent readings, and with all, those present say the evening was indeed enjoyable.

Entertained Club

Mrs. Sherman Stevens entertained the members of the Duplicate Whist club at her pleasant home Thursday afternoon.

Entertained Sewing Society

Mrs. Thomas Rawlings entertained the members of the Richardson Embroidery Club at her home Wednesday afternoon.

Those present were Mesdames Runnells, Lambert, House, Chris Noe, C. E. Tuttle, Ellen Whitney, Harcastle, Miss Eath Rawlings and her grandmother.

The next meeting will be Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. McCarrel of San Juan street.

Interesting Meeting

Mesdames Field and Pollard led a very interesting Missionary meeting Thursday afternoon at the residence of Miss Ida Mitchell.

The ladies present were Mesdames F. A. Logan, Marshall, J. W. McCullough, Byron Johnson, Lieby, Taylor, Jerome, Lu, Allen, A. E. Bennett, Sheets, Morrison, Chas. Bowman, Martin, Tuttle and Miss Mitchell.

After an excellent talk and discussion on the afternoon work, Miss Mitchell served delicious refreshments.

Very Pleasant Surprise

At a regular meeting Wednesday night of Wistaria Lodge, the lady members were very pleasantly surprised after business. The men members very mysteriously rolled back the carpet, spread the big tables out and invited the ladies to join them in a feast of ice cream, strawberries and cookies. Of all the surprises, this was certainly the best and very much appreciated as the evening was warm and the cold viands tasted, oh, so good.

Christian Endeavor Social

The Christian Endeavorers will have a social next Friday night at the Tustin Presbyterian church. Young people of Tustin are invited. Several musical numbers during the evening with games and other amusements will insure a good time to all who attend.

About the various routes, trains, etc., and the attractive reduced fare excursions to many eastern points. If you contemplate an eastern trip—either one way or round trip—it will be to your advantage to talk it over with a Southern Pacific agent.

With the four routes over which it is possible for a trip to be made, and the superior service via all of them, you surely will find some one of them just the one for your trip.

You may prefer to go via San Francisco and Ogden, passing over the high Sierras and Great Salt Lake; or north through Portland over the scenic Shasta Route.

Another way is via El Paso and the Rock Island Line—and still another through New Orleans over the Sunset Route.

Through sleepers from Los Angeles to Eastern points are run via all these different routes (except Portland), and each has its own attractive features.

The Modesty of Women

Naturally makes them shrink from the inadequate questions, the obnoxious examinations, and unpleasant local treatments, which some physicians consider essential in the treatment of diseases of women. Yet, if help can be had, it is better to submit to this ordeal than let the disease grow and spread. The trouble is that so often the woman undergoes all the annoyance and shame for nothing. Thousands of women who have been cured by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription write in appreciation of the cure which dispels the examinations and local treatments. There is no other medicine so sure and safe for delicate women as "Favorite Prescription." It cures debilitating drains, irregularity and female weakness. It always helps. It almost always cures. It is strictly non-alcoholic, non-secret, all its ingredients being printed on its bottle wrapper; contains no deleterious or habit-forming drugs, and every native medicinal root entering into its composition has the full endorsement of those most eminent in the several schools of medical practice. Some of these numerous and strongest of professional endorsements of its ingredients, will be found in a pamphlet wrapped around the bottle, also in a booklet mailed free on request, by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. These professional endorsements should have far more weight than any amount of the ordinary lay, or non-professional testimonials.

The most intelligent women now-a-days insist on knowing what they take as medicine instead of opening their mouths like a lot of young birds and gulping down whatever is offered them. "Favorite Prescription" is of known composition. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 21-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 31 stamps for cloth-bound. If sick consult the Doctor, free of charge by letter. All such communications are held sacredly confidential.

LAST NIGHT'S SHOW PLEASED AUDIENCE

Last night's show at the Grand Opera House was worth more than the price of admission and then some. It was full of good laughs, catchy music, good looking girls and sprightly comedians and other features that helped make the show pleasing. One of the best chorus appearances was in a Dutch scene, the wooden shoes taking the fancy of the audience. The same company is to be at the Grand tonight in "A Night Off."

THE "HALO" CHARGE

The opponents to Hiram Johnson ring all the charges on the "halo" business and "better than thou" phrases, evidently having nothing else available. This kind of argument was invented by the booze boosters and was worn to a frazzle long before being taken up by "de push." The interpretation of this kind of "argument" is that Johnson is a reformer, which is enough to array all the "performers" against him.

Accuse a candidate of wearing a "halo" and nothing more is needed to influence one voter to oppose him and another to support him. We have all learned just what such a statement means, which is that the accused candidate is decent and in favor of improving political conditions in this state. We also know that in order to get this done the candidate and his associates have led the movement for taking the nomination of candidates out of the hands of the machine politicians, with the result that the nomination now rests with the voters. This kind of candidate believes in the people and their ability to govern themselves if given a chance. He does not believe in machine politics. He thinks that every candidate for office should be compelled to go out and fight for that office before the electors of his party on the stump.

In the eyes of the machine politicians, this makes the candidate a hypocrite. The machine and the boss, to their way of thinking, are the prime factors in successful party politics. Whoever objects to this must, in the nature of things, be a hypocrite, and hence the style of attack pursued by the machine, which as before maintained, was borrowed from the boosters of booze.

Such is the line of "argument" used by the machine newspapers against Johnson. He has always been an anti-machine man and has fought the battles of the people against the machine on any and all occasions. He has dealt the machine some heavy blows, and well do the machine politicians know what will happen to their poor old machine if Johnson is elected governor. They would like to say something terribly bad about him if they could, but the worst they can do is to talk about "halos" and the like. Poor old machine! It is getting badly worn at the joints and can't last much longer.

A mismarriage is one of the saddest tragedies of life. It is a living death that blights the fond hopes of youth and mocks every aspiration for conjugal bliss. It either changes the holy passion of love into hate or supplants it by fear and dread.

The world is full of such tragedies, but there are none so deplorable as the joining in marriage of two belonging to races that have nothing in common. The worst feature of such cases is that they are unnatural and so can never be mended. A Caucasian cannot be a Jap, neither can a Jap be a Caucasian.

It has taken Mrs. Helen Aoki, nee Emery, of Corte Madera, California, just one year to find this out. She refused to learn of her family and friends, but now the lesson has been well conned in the school of experience, and she has it literally "by heart." She has fled to the paternal roof with the little baby that has come to complicate the situation.

We sometimes deride the parents who manifest a disposition to interfere with the love affairs of their children, but it is likely that there would be less business for the divorce courts were parents more frequently listened to. Love being blind, needs a guide, and who more competent to act as such than those who are qualified both by love and experience?

The fact that some parents are so stupid, and would actually sell their children for money or a title, is an exception that goes to prove the rule. The vast majority of them use the restraining hand with wisdom, and just now there is at Corte Madera, California, a forlorn young lady who can testify to this effect. At any rate, she is an illustration of the fact that in this country at least the marriage of the Caucasian and Mongol is forbidden by the laws of nature, if not by the laws of man.

A MOSES NEEDED

Now that the little state of New Jersey has the temerity to get after the great J. Ogden Armour, it looks like the great state of California might brace up and take courage. Maybe, however, we will have to import a few prosecutors after the manner of Garven before moving on the works of the packers and the divers other monopolists that infest this fairest of all lands.

It is possible we have such men in our midst, but if so they are not just now occupying positions that make it possible for them to take a hand in the war on the conspirators. There is, however, an election coming, the preliminaries of which will be settled in August, and if there are any who aspire to lead the hosts of reform, they will please let it be known at once as the matter is getting urgent.

New Jersey once enjoyed the reputation of enforcing its laws more effectively than any other state, and it looks as though it was determined to sustain its ancient character. But why should California lag behind in this regard when it excels in almost every thing else? Why indeed except it be for the political machine through which private interests are able to prevail over the public? Let us get in and smash the machine so fine that it can never again be set up. We can do it in August if we will, and henceforth have a government "of the people, by the people and for the people" and not for special interests.

"A GAME TO BEAT THE LAW"

"The effect of our exaggerated contentious procedure is not only to irritate parties, witnesses and jurors in particular cases, but to give the whole community a false notion of the purpose and end of law. Hence comes, in large measure, the modern American race to beat the law. If the law is a mere game, neither the players who take part in it nor

Johnson Holds a Great Meeting In Sacramento

Hiram W. Johnson was given a great ovation at his old home when he spoke in Sacramento Saturday night. Col. H. Weinstock, the well known Sacramento merchant, presided at the meeting and in his opening remarks said that he believes that if Hiram Johnson is elected governor of California he will be the Theodore Roosevelt of California. Speaking of the effect Johnson's election would have on business, Weinstock declared he would consider his business had enhanced in value; that all business in the state would be on a sounder basis.

Referring to Johnson's attitude toward the railroad and corporations, Weinstock declared that the railroads need never fear Johnson so long as they keep within the law and do not debauch the politics of the state.

The speaker recalled the time when Hiram Johnson was city attorney of Sacramento and said that gambling, a wide-open town and corruption were wiped out then by Johnson, and promised that if Johnson is elected governor he will do for the state of California what he did for the city of Sacramento.

The Bee says of the greeting given the candidate for governor:

"Cheered as he stepped to the platform, applauded and cheered frequently throughout his speech and urged to go on when he was about to close his address, Hiram W. Johnson, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, was given a the public who witness it can be expected to yield to its spirit when their interests are served by evading it. And this is doubly true in a time which requires all institutions to be economically efficient and socially useful. We need not wonder that one part of the community strain their oaths in the jury box and find verdicts against unpopular litigants in the teeth of law and evidence, while another part retain lawyers by the year to advise how to evade what to them are unintelligent and unreasonable restrictions upon unnecessary modes of doing business. Thus the courts, instituted to administer justice according to law, are made agents or abettors of lawlessness."—Prof. Roscoe Pound, of the Northwestern University, of Chicago.

rousing reception last Saturday night at the Clunie theater by an enthusiastic audience which filled the seats and packed every inch of available standing room in the large playhouse. Johnson's impassioned appeal to the voters to rid the state of the Southern Pacific and William F. Herrin rule in politics was received with shouts of approval.

"Hiram W. Johnson spoke with the earnestness and conviction, force and vitality of a man inspired by his cause. He was unsparring in his arraignment of the enemies of good government and painted vivid word pictures of how the state of California is being despoiled, prostituted by the machine, while the rights of the people are held valuable only in so far as their votes are concerned.

"From the first word that passed Johnson's lips to his last passionate appeal to the Republicans of Sacramento to rid the state of the push-button control of the politics of California, he commanded and received attention. His powerful address held the audience for more than an hour in intense interest, while his fearless championship of the People's rights against the corrupting influence of Southern Pacific rule was cheered to the echo."

The anti-machine candidates are working south; the propose to visit not only every county in the state but all the larger communities in each county. No such canvass of the state has been made within the last 25 years, if ever in its history.

ABOUT PUBLIC DEBT AND THE CIRCULATION

WASHINGTON, April 23.—The relation between the public debt and the circulation of the national banks is brought out in a graphic manner in some of the charts prepared by Dr. A. Platt Andrew, special assistant to the National Monetary Commission, which have just been made public. The chart which plots the relation of circulation to national banking capital and United States bonds outstanding shows the greatest divergence between banking capital and circulation in 1892, when capital was about $685,000,000 and circulation had fallen below $150,000,000. Prior to 1882 the progress of capital and circulation had shown only slight departures from parallel lines, capital funds at that time exceeding circulation by about $200,000,000. Then came the gradual widening of the distance between the two items until 1893, when the effort to stave off the panic caused a gradual increase in circulation, in spite of the decline of the capital and surplus funds of the banks during the following two or three years. By 1899 the difference between the two items had been reduced to about $400,000,000. With the refunding law of 1900, which introduced the 2 per cent bonds, came an increase in issues which much more than doubled the circulation between 1898 and 1908 and narrowed the difference between circulation and capital to about $300,000,000.

The relation between the outstanding public debt and the circulation has to be traced in connection with changes in the character of the debt, as well as in the amount. As late as 1875, when the redemption act was passed, the bank-note circulation was not a fifth part of the debt. The decrease of the debt down to 1883, by nearly $500,000,000 did not at once cause a contraction of the circulation; but the influence of the decrease in the debt was shown after that date by a decline in the circulation that after 1891. After the latter date circulation showed some disposition to follow the increase of the debt due to the panic of 1893 and the war with Spain. This increase in circulation was slow and gradual, but it was not obviously checked by the reduction of the debt after 1899. The reason for this must be sought in the special advantages to the banks afforded by the 2 per cent bonds issued under the refunding law of 1900, which, according to the charts, left to the banks by 1907 the custody of more than two-thirds of the bonded debt, where, as recently as 1899, they had held less than one-quarter.

This chart bears a close relation to that of the deposits of public money in the banks, which were also secured by United States bonds down to the year 1902, when a different class of securities were accepted by Secretary Shaw. The diagram showing the net balance in the Treasury and the proportion in the custody of the banks is a series of mountain peaks and depressions, in which the sky line of the deposits follows roughly, though at a considerable distance, the line of the highest altitude of the Treasury balance. Deposits with the banks, except during the refunding operations of 1879, were not an important factor until 1888, and declined during the Treasury penury of 1893, only to assume much higher elevations with the accumulation of a surplus and the pressure of a tight money market in 1898 and the following years.

One of the significant facts brought out in the chart showing the principal items of resources and liabilities of the national banks is the manner in which total deposits have gained over individual deposits. The difference consists in deposits by banks in other institutions, representing in some respects a duplication of credit. The difference between the two items—total deposits and individual deposits—which was less than $200,000,000 in 1878, still stood at only about $250,000,000 after the panic of 1893. The difference was greater during periods of expansion in 1883 and 1892, but it was not until after 1896 that the lines of separation began to draw wide apart. In the summer of 1899 total deposits, which stood above individual deposits of a round billion of dollars, and with the increase of total deposits by another billion in 1903 their excess over individual deposits had risen to $1,250,000,000. The eve of the panic, in the summer of 1907, found total deposits at $6,200,000,000, which was nearly $2,000,000,000 above the total of individual deposits. It is the sharp downward dip of nearly $400,000,000 in total deposits within a few months, while individual deposits fell by only $200,000,000, which indicates the character of the pressure of the interior banks upon their reserve agents in the summer and autumn of 1907.

Society

Carpet Social

A new carpet for the M. E. Church South has been bought, and this plan to pay for it has been sought.

To every member has been sent a little sack in which a liberal contribution we hope you'll pack.

And bring to the social without delay.

On April 22nd, corner Church and Broadway, Any time from 4 p. m. until 10 o'clock at night. You will be welcomed with much delight.

Mrs. Nelson will meet you with a smiling face. And take your contribution with her usual grace.

Then to the basement proceed, careful and slow. And partake of refreshments before you go.

Such were the invitations that gathered together some 160 people last night at the Methodist church, South, to both have a good time and to give their contributions for a new carpet. Both objects were achieved, the sum of $150 being raised for the carpet fund, and everybody having a good time. Ice cream and cake were served in the basement.

That Baby Show

Invitations are out for the baby show to be given by the ladies of the First Congregational church on May 7 at Spurgeon's Hall. This is an annual event that is always eagerly looked forward to by young and old.

Dinner Party

Mrs. F. L. Andrews was hostess last night at a pretty dinner party given in honor of her husband and Rev. and Mrs. W. L. C. Samson, who will leave about the first of May for the east. Lovely roses were used in the decorations of the rooms, white roses being used in the parlor, pink roses in the library and red roses in the dining room. Dinner was served at 7 o'clock with covers for fourteen.

Owls Had a Banquet

On Thursday night the Order of Owls, which meets every Thursday evening at Fraternal Brotherhood Hall, had a social meeting after the regular business session. The members gathered around a banquet table and had a pleasant hour. R. Morrill is the president of the local lodge.

Visited de Longpre Studio

Among those of the Art Study Club and their invited guests who went to Hollywood today to visit the Paul de Longpre studio on invitation of the artist, were Mesdames A. J. Lawton, A. J. Padgham, George S. Smith, W. M. Clayton, Clyde Bishop, Chas. Hell, Olive Lopez, Misses Alexander, Cooper. The ladies spent the forenoon in Los Angeles visiting the various art exhibits there, and in the afternoon went to Hollywood. The trip was a very delightful one, and the club appreciated the invitation that afforded them the opportunity to visit the de Longpre studio.

Congregational Social

The final event of Dedication Week was had at the Congregational church last night when the young people of the church entertained representatives from the young people's societies of other churches. The ladies' parlor and the Sunday school auditorium, as well as the dining room in the basement were utilized for the function, and quantities of roses were used in the beautiful decorations. There were about one hundred present and the evening passed delightfully with an acceptable program, games and merry conversation.

An address of welcome by Loren Mead, president of the Christian Endeavor society of the Congregational church, made all feel at home. Those taking part in the program were the Misses Alice and Rena Cranston with a violin and piano duet, Miss Minnie Smith and Miss Anna Clark with vocal solos, Misses Hope McPhee and Frances Bruner with readings, and Rev. Chas. H. Secombe with a brief address.

Light refreshments concluded the evening which had been replete with pleasure and a real fellowship feeling. The young people's social made a pretty ending for the week's rejoicing over the new church home of the Congregationalists.

Rose Day is Success

Today is Rose Day at Potter's confectionery store. The store from one end to the other is a mass of the most beautiful roses. These roses were entered in the prize contest, and several bouquets will be awarded cash prizes ranging from $2 to $5, the awards to be made at 6 o'clock this evening.

Mr. Potter advertised to give prizes for the best bouquets of roses brought to his store today, between the hours of 8 and 10 a.m. During those hours 135 bearers of bouquets of choicest roses called and placed their fragrant bunches of flowers on display. Mrs. W. B. Tedford and Mr. Fred Rafferty are to be the judges, and will make the awards. They will have a difficult task, but are competent to fulfill it.

Free delicious punch and lovely music are features of the big event at Potter's, and no one should miss a visit to this beautiful establishment this evening. Rosa rose everywhere, and the most assiduous attention on the part of proprietor and assistants will greet every visitor.

DREAMS, AND WHAT HAPPENED TO ONE

D. W. McDannald of Berrydale Tells About the Return of a Brother

BERRYDALE, April 21.—There are a lot of people in this country who do not believe in dreams, and a great many of them are very good people, too, but if they ever get the "burden of proof" put before them as I once had it, and then say they don't believe, I will charge them with being prevaricators, and prove it. I once had a couple of bachelor neighbors, who, for the mere convenience of this story, I will call "Jim" and "Bob." I used to go to their house about once a week—usually on Saturday evening—and while we supped a mug or two of sherry, we'd sit and talk, and discuss questions of more or less importance, sometimes until a very late hour. This depended, I think, a good deal on how the vintage affected our humor. There was one point about these discussions that always seemed strange to me; we never disagreed. The three of us claimed the same party affiliations, we had the same ideas on religion, all believed that death does not end all; we agreed that Roosevelt is the greatest living statesman, that Dr. Cook is a fake, and that Peary should be made to "put up or shut up." We said if the chance came to us, and the good Lord allowed us to tarry so long, we would vote for Frank Trickey, Col. Coulter, and a few other good men. We agreed unanimously that any man who aspired to office in the campaign of 1910, and who seriously desired that success should crown his aspirations, would safely further his chances by having his record vaccinated against MacMullenism.

We were thus engaged in discussing questions of state-wide magnitude, when Jim broke into our deliberations with the details of a dream.

He said there came to him the night before a tall man, wearing a long beard, streaked with gray, and who claimed to be his brother Joe. As Jim had left home when Joe was only an infant in arms, and as he had not seen or heard from him for nearly fifty years, he was unable to even guess whether this dream visitor in any way resembled his real kinsman or not.

The dream, or apparition, or whatever it was, was so real that he was able to describe the visitor even to the minutest detail. He remembered the kind of clothes the visitor wore. There was a patch of gray hair just above the right ear, a distinguishing mark seldom seen; a yellow silk necktie with a Masonic stick pin, a suit of brown tweed, and tan shoes.

The clock had just tolled the half hour to midnight when there came a distinct rap at the door. Now, I will not hesitate to say that we were a little bit alarmed, and very much astonished at anyone making so late a call. After a considerable spell of doubt and hesitation, Bob unfastened the door, and there stood upon the threshold as perfect a counterpart of Jim's dream visitor of the previous night, as it would be possible for any artist to picture. For a long time not a word was spoken, so complete was the surprise. When the power of speech finally returned, I went forward and said: "You're Joe Fordall, and there is your brother Jim," pointing to the narrator of the strange dream story. At this Jim aroused, and the brothers met in a reunited clasp that had not been their privilege for nearly a half century. Then I walked away.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The conservation of kitchen resources is the latest slogan of "Tama Jim" Wilson, Secretary of Agriculture.

Uncle Sam has been teaching the farmers how to grow good things for a number of years, and now Secretary Wilson proposes to inaugurate an educational campaign to tell the housewives the best way to fix up the things the farmers raise.

"Tama Jim's" keynote in this campaign is that the nutritive value may be raised, and the cost at the same time lowered. In other words he hopes to teach the housewife what is best to eat, how to buy it and the best way to use it.

It seems that American housewives have been overlooking cooking economy—or at least haven't been as keen conservationists as their sisters abroad. American consuls have lately commented upon the difference in the standards of living between the German and the Englishman as compared to his income. Although opportunity enables the Englishman to reap a larger profit from his labors than the German, the latter is a better fed man. The Englishman puts more into his kitchen but the German takes more out of it. The German housewife is unequalled as a conservator of kitchen resources.

The meat cook book of the Department of Agriculture is the result of exhaustive experiments with a queer device called the calorimeter. This apparatus is as large as a room and yet is as delicately regulated as a ship's chronometer.

It is used to determine the value of foods and their relation to the health, growth and energy of the body. It is based, in principle, upon the theory that the human body is self-regulating and that, whereas in the case of the furnace all the fuel is converted into ash, gas and heat, in the body a part of the food-fuel goes towards building up the tissues. By the calorimeter food consumption is studied by analysis of the ash, the breath, which represents the gas, and the energy-giving properties, which is comparable to the heat of the furnace.

The chemical composition of a certain food being determined, the excrement and the breath of a person having eaten it are analyzed and the decrease in chemical constituents represents the portion digested. Of this latter, a portion is assimilated into the body tissue, and a part is consumed in the energy of the person. The exact portion that goes to energy is only found after exhaustive analysis.

All human energy is transformed into heat given off from the body. Even the raising of an arm causes a slight escape of heat. To measure this heat is to know the amount of energy expended. Consequently in the calorimeter, a man is placed in a heat proof chamber. There are two outer walls to this room separated by an air space about five inches in width. Through this space are run alternately tubes for the circulation of cold water and wires for electric currents.

It is necessary that the chamber enclosed be absolutely heat proof, and remain unaffected by temperature changes without. To accomplish this, advantage is taken of the law of physics that no change can occur in a room unless the temperature without it changes. If the heat in the calorimeter rises cold water is turned on in the pipes until the air in the space between the walls is the same as that of the room. If it drops an electric current is passed through. Thus the heat in the chamber is absolutely imprisoned. The man in the calorimeter is fed solely upon the diet that is to be analyzed. To measure the heat in the chamber determines the exact amount of energy giving nourishment there is in that particular food.

Since heat is the expression of energy it only remains to measure the heat within the calorimeter chamber to determine the energy expended by the "subject" under experiment. And the measuring is done thus:

Water pipes, in coils much like those used in heating houses are run through the calorimeter. Cold water, of a known temperature runs through them. The water absorbs the heat in the room—that given off by the man within the chamber. The temperature of the water as it passed from the room is again taken and the resultant rise in its temperature gives the amount of heat or energy generated from the food under test. So closely does the calorimeter register this heat that its dials show the slightest movement of the subject—such as the raising of an arm.

Tests are made in the chamber with the man at exercise and at rest. In order to know the amount of muscular energy expended a stationary bicycle arrangement is rigged up in the calorimeter. The hind wheel of this is made of sheet copper. Resisting currents of electricity are passed through this wheel so that it is known exactly the load against which he pulls.

There is now known by analysis the constituents of the ash from the food and the energy supplied by it. There remains then the gas of breath and the quantity assimilated. The test of the breath is made at the same time as the test of the energy. Chemically measured air is passed into the chamber. The breath is known to give off two properties from the food digested—moisture and carbon dioxide.

When the air is drawn from the chamber it is passed through sulphuric acid to extract the moisture and through soda lime to extract the carbon dioxide. These two chemicals are analyzed after being saturated with the used air and the properties that have been given off in the breath from the food consumed are determined.

By a simple process of elimination, the constituents of the ash, the breath and the energy amount being subtracted from the original analysis of the food, it is found just what portion of the food was retained by the system and went to maintaining or building up the frame.

It is by experiment with various foods—or the same food variously prepared—that the calorimeter registers its most valuable information for the housewife. It is this information, translated from technical terms and reduced to plain English that Uncle Jim Wilson will use in his campaign for the conservation of kitchen resources.

Be passive and I will tell your innermost soul, solve the mysteries that rack your brain and life from your spirit the troubles and cares that weight it down, tell what you earn, and whether or not you could do better, where to invest your money to gain the greatest result; the prospect of an increase in business, who your employer is and how you rate with him; who of your employes are honest or dishonest with you. I give the names of those who love you, who are true and those who are false. I locate missing persons, papers, and furnish evidence, I give the names of your rivals, enemies and friends. LOS ANGELES PRODUCE MARKET

Twenty boxes of Knight's early cherries from the Courtland district arrived on the local market yesterday morning. The cherries were of excellent quality, good flavor and sold at $3.50 per box of 10 pounds net. Local quarts were plentiful and the market showed a fair demand for the fruit. Prices were down as low as 5 cents a pound.

The extra select quotations on eggs was finally abandoned by the egg board of the Produce Exchange. There has been considerable complaint against this quotation, particularly since no one would pay the extra two cents over the cost of candled. In addition to this the price of candled dropped to 25 cents and case count sold at 22 cents a dozen. Eastern storage stock was very firm and 29 cents was the price demanded for the best selection of eastern eggs. Coast eggs were not plentiful. With the warm weather of the past few days, the demand for eggs has been light. Receipts yesterday were only 333 cases.

Butter was in very good call and creamery extras, local stock, sold at 28 cents while firsts jobbed at just 1/2 cent below that figure. Cooking butter was also in very fair call with the prevailing price at 23 cents. Receipts of butter were 25,166 pounds.

Cheese receipts were 559 pounds. Because of the low price prevailing on local cheese and northern stock, the price on eastern is weak and several declines were registered, among them 1/2 cent on daisy and the same amount on twins. Northern fresh and Swiss imported sold very well.

Receipts of local spuds are growing fast. White and red rose can almost supply the entire demand at the present time without the additional northern stock. Prices on red rose were down to 50 cents per lug box and on white to 75 at best. Receipts from the north were 540 sacks.

Onion receipts were 424 sacks. The market on onions was rather quiet. All varieties still on hand were offered, but buyers were scarce.

Pink beans were very firm. Receipts of all kinds were 507 sacks. Prices were unchanged throughout the list. Sweet potatoes are not selling fast.

Cucumbers are down to $2.50 on the very best and 75 cents on small stock. Cuban egg plant is obtainable at 25 cents a pound. Beans are down to 12 cents on fancy wax variety. Mexican tomatoes are selling from $1.80 to $2.00 per crate.

The demand for fish was good and helped greatly to move some of the surplus stock which has been accumulating. Northern cat fish and shad were in special demand and the smaller varieties of local fish were also in good demand.

YOUNG MEN ARE MEETING

Annual Convention of Y. M. C. A. is in Session at Anaheim

ANAHEIM, April 22.—Delegates to the fourth annual convention of the Orange County Y. M. C. A. assembled at the Presbyterian church this afternoon. The meetings will continue until Sunday evening. Rev. F. D. Ashleigh, of Garden Grove, delivered an interesting address on "Our Challenge." Then a Bible hour by Rev. A. C. Smith, of Los Angeles. This evening "Camp Life" was the subject on which J. E. Sprunger spoke. Rev. A. C. Smith, of Los Angeles, delivered the convention address. There will be a large meeting tomorrow.

Walter Robinson, of Trabuca, deputy fish and game commissioner, states that the streams of Orange county are well stocked with trout and that excellent fishing is in prospect. The season will open May 1. Mr. Robinson has notified the Anaheim Union Water Company to place screens at all its intakes at the Santa Ana river, to prevent fish from getting into canals. Since the recent municipal election Anaheim has a board of four trustees only, and a special election will be called at an early date to fill the vacancy caused by a tie vote between C. L. Becker, whom the Citizens' Alliance supported, and W. P. Quarton, the Merchants' Association candidate.

LOS ANGELES, April 23.—Ernest Wirth, who murdered his wife yesterday by stamping out her brains, was arraigned today and his examination set for April 28. He is held as a murderer and without bail. Wirth wanted his examination this morning, but the state refused. He spent the night strapped to a cot in the jail. He is recovering from the effects of the liquor he imbibed before his murderous assault on his wife. The report that he attempted suicide by trying to dash his brains out against the cell bars last night, was unfounded.

WOMEN TELL CITY'S NEEDS

Committee Visited Fullerton Chamber of Commerce With Suggestions

FULLERTON, April 22.—At the local Chamber of Commerce meeting last night Mrs. E. S. Richman of the Woman's Improvement committee explained some of the city's greatest needs, particularly the improvement of streets and alleys, and the lack of accommodations for people who visit Fullerton. She stated that the women of Fullerton are most in earnest regarding these improvements and that they will not relax their efforts until many of the most needful reforms are accomplished. A committee was appointed to confer with the city trustees, asking their co-operation in the work of improvement.

Twenty-six carloads of oranges were shipped this week. They now demand a better price. The early clean-up of navels is the indication of a better outlook for orange growers.

Miss Hazel Osborne of Los Angeles is spending a week with her friend, Miss Anne Segerstrom.

Miss Ida Segerstrom spent Tuesday and Wednesday in Los Angeles where she attended the wedding of one of her dear friends.

Miss Anne and Esther Segerstrom entertained Miss Beatrice and Hazel Nealey and Ethel and May Walton on Wednesday afternoon in honor of Miss Hazel Osborne of Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Merritt and their daughter Belle and son Fraz, had dinner with Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Segerstrom and family on Sunday.

MANY WEEDS FALL BEFORE THE HOES

All over the city today weeds were suffering from the hoe. A. C. Black, president of the Civic Association, said that the turn-out was lessened and the number of hours put in lessened by the heat of the day.

MAKE THEM GOOD CROPS

Horticultural Commissioner Tells How to Care for Pears and Apples

Editor Register: Inasmuch as there is a considerable number of apple and pear trees in Orange county, and as the trees do bear good crops of fruit of fine quality, it seems that it is advisable to take care of the fruit and thus supply in part at least, some consumption, for Orange county ships in large quantities of apples every year. The prices for such fruit is such as to make apple growing for home trade very profitable.

We have two insect pests on the apple and pear to contend with, namely, the codlin moth and the woolly aphid. There is also some fungus diseases, but these must be treated in the winter time, so that it is too late for this year.

However, it is just now (as the blossoms drop) the proper time to spray for the codlin moth.

This should be done in our climate with arsenate of lead, and at least three sprayings should be made one month apart. The object should be to be sure to wet all the fruit with the spray. The spray should be made two pounds of arsenate to fifty gallons of water. Stir up with a gallon of water before adding to the larger quantity, then keep stirring while spraying.

In work with the woolly aphid the best remedy for this time of year is to wet the cottony masses with kerosene, using a small brush, or the whole tree where it is very bad, with a solution of sulphate of nicotine.

Where one has but a few trees very satisfactory work may be done with a hand sprayer, otherwise it is advisable to get one of the power sprayers.

T. Chapman, the local organizer, succeeded in getting Mr. Wheeler to come and give this talk.

The lecture will be free to all who care to hear about the greatest of all the woman's movements in America.

Interesting Facts About Smuggling of Chinese Brought Out at Inquest

That Ralph L. Conklin killed Gregorio Espinosa in the discharge of his duty as a United States Chinese inspector, was the verdict of the coroner's jury yesterday afternoon. The inquest lasted for three hours, and in that time there were examined Juan Espinosa, father of the dead smuggler, Dr. C. D. Ball, who performed the autopsy, Ralph L. Conklin and William H. Chadney, the inspectors who were engaged in the fight and capture of the Chinese, Sheriff Lacy, who went over the ground of the tragedy, Deputy Sheriff Lacy, who identified articles taken from Espinosa, Chen, a Chinese interpreter who translated a letter found in Espinosa's purse, and two of the captured Chinese.

Richard D. Taylor, a special agent of the Department of Commerce and Labor, was present to see that the interests of the inspectors were protected.

Conklin stated that search for the band of Chinese commenced Friday on learning that the Chinese had crossed the border at Portrero, forty-five miles east of San Diego.

Considerable interest was manifested by the immigration officers in the letter found in Espinosa's purse. It was addressed to Hong Yick, 335 1/2 Apahlasa St., Los Angeles, and was signed Bo Sin, with a request that it be delivered to Dick Gin. This letter was written on March 31, and while it seemed to be in regard to a horse deal, doubtless its meaning was more significant.

The letter said: "You have spoken to me about buying a horse. I am sending you a foreign man, so you can talk to him. If you want to buy it, do as you please."

The interpreter stated that the immigration officers had compared the handwriting of this letter with other letters in their possession, and were convinced that it was written by the proprietor of the Hop Lee Laundry at Ensenada, who is known to be in the smuggling business.

Some interesting facts in regard to the Chinese smuggling business were brought out.

The regulation price paid by the Chinese for smuggling through to the United States is $350. This must be paid to the agent of the gang in the United States before the Chinaman is started across the long tramp. The traveling is done mostly at night. It is a hard trip through brush and over mountains. Sometimes the food supply gives out, and the Chinese arrive at this end of the journey half-starved. The Chinese captured Wednesday had carrying sacks to be thrown over their shoulders.

One of the Chinese caught Wednesday night made an attempt to steal Espinosa's Stetson sombrero. Espinosa's hat fell beside the railroad tracks when he was shot. After the Chinese were handcuffed and the officers were lifting Espinosa into a wagon, one of the Chinese left his old hat on the ground and took Espinosa's. The theft was discovered during the day when it was noticed that the hat worn by one of the Chinese was a bad fit. When the Chinaman heard that Espinosa was dead he was very willing to exchange for his own hat, he wanted no dead man's hat.

The two Chinese who were examined as witnesses yesterday kept everything of importance to themselves. They said they were walking in search of work. They had never seen the Mexican guides until a half-hour or so before the capture. They did not know they were in the United States.

Espinosa's body will probably be buried at Ocampo, on this side of the line, as the Mexican authorities will not allow it to cross the border.
